> " Brazil is a wonderful country and USP is one of the best universities.

New friendships

I was admitted to the Obstetrics program at the Universidade de São Paulo via an agreement between Brazil and my home country, Cape Verde, under the auspices of the Program for Partner Undergraduate Students.
Our first days of classes were great, because we were the first and only Africans from Cape Verde to come to study at USP/EACH (School of Arts, Sciences and Humanities). Everyone was curious to meet us and to learn about life in our country. I ended up meeting most of the students in the college, and they were all really cool, receptive, nice and friendly.

> " Enjoy your exchange program to the max, you won't regret it.

Culture and Diversity

I have been studying anthropology for two semesters at USP as an exchange student. Studying and living here has changed the way I see Brazil. I liked the university from the very beginning and here I have the opportunity to interact with people from different nationalities, allowing me to acquire new knowledge and broaden my worldview. Markets on weekends, "sambas" that take place in the city, great parties, exhibitions, displays... São Paulo is a city where you always find something going on, there's always something to do, you just have to stay tuned in.

Universidade de São Paulo is one of the largest and most important institutions of higher education and research in Brazil and Latin America. Founded in 1934, USP is a public state institution (it does not charge tuition fees) and has campi placed in eight cities spread throughout the state of São Paulo. With education and research activities in all academic fields, USP offers 312 undergraduate programs, 222 graduate programs (both Master's and Doctoral (PhD) degrees) and 984 extracurricular programs. In total, there are about 94 thousand students enrolled in 48 Schools (faculties and institutes) which make up USP. Furthermore, the university houses four important museums which receive over 1million visitors per year. In addition, USP runs health centers and two major hospitals. It also works in partnership with Hospital das Clínicas of Ribeirão Preto and Hospital das Clínicas of São Paulo, the later considered one of the leading hospitals in Latin America.

Over 88% of the 5,844 professors are full time employees. This reinforces the university's commitment to achieving excellence in terms of its personnel and of generation of knowledge.

USP's scientific productivity totals an average of over 25 thousand publications per year, including indexed scientific journals, books, reports etc. This represents a significant proportion of the country's output.

The university is also concerned with the application of discoveries made by its research centers and laboratories, as well as with the effective transfer of these findings to society in general. For this reason many members of the USP community are in permanent partnership with industries, companies, offices and health centers specialized in the development of projects and products and in the practical application of new technologies and products.

The university also plays an important role in South America, since it attracts many students, professors and technicians from the neighboring countries and from all parts of the world. USP is an institution that evolves rapidly in its intent towards greater internationalization, which has been accompanied by its ever growing visibility on the world stage. It has signed over a thousand cooperation and exchange agreements with important institutions in the Americas, Africa, Europe, Asia and Oceania, and is constantly working towards increasing this number. The university currently welcomes about 1,400 undergraduate and graduate foreign students per year and sends abroad about 2,500 students as part of its student mobility program.

⟨ AERIAL VIEW OF BAURU CAMPUS

⌄ BAURU CAMPUS ENTRANCE

The town of Bauru has its origins in the cultivation of coffee, in the 19th century, and over the decades has received immigrants from different nationalities. It is a medium sized town, with about 372,000 inhabitants*, and it is strategically located at the confluence of important roads and rail connections, making Bauru's economy one of the most influential in Western São Paulo state. Its valuable historical heritage, along with its notable level of scientific enterprise and the large student population (around 25,000) lead to a busy social and cultural life, and ensure that Bauru is, above all, a town headed towards the future.

Located in the Paraíba River Valley, the town is almost equidistant from São Paulo and Rio de Janeiro and has excellent transport links. Its population is around 88,000 people*, out of which approximately 5,000 are students. After a period of predominant coffee production and livestock-related activities, Lorena has become industrialized and has taken its place as one of the Valley's most important economic centers. In this town where technology blends with history, Universidade de São Paulo has found a fertile terrain for education and research.

Piracicaba

Home for approximately 397,000 people*, Piracicaba is one of the largest economies in the state of São Paulo and in Brazil as a whole, and its agricultural industry is largely derived from sugar cane. Crossed by the Piracicaba River, the city's history has always been a symbiosis between the river and the town. The university campus occupies 56 hectares (aprox. 138 acres), is composed of parks and woodlands, and has a vigorous historical heritage.

Ribeirão Preto

∧ Ribeirão Preto campus entrance

< Ribeirão Preto Campus

Ribeirão Preto has its origins in the livestock industry, but it was soon overtaken by coffee production as its main economic activity. The town has received so many immigrants (mostly Italians) that, in the beginning of the 20th century, more than half of its inhabitants were not native Portuguese speakers. Nowadays, with over 682,000 people*, Ribeirão Preto is considered an attractive option for business enterprises, besides being an economic highlight in its region. The diversified cultural life, the rich historic heritage and the talent for business are remarkable characteristics of the city. Definitely, Ribeirão Preto is a big town with aspects of a small town.

São Carlos

∧ São Carlos campus entrance

< São Carlos Campus

Like many other cities of the region, at first São Carlos was largely dedicated to the production of coffee. Subsequently, the changing economy forced modernization and with it came the need to invest in new infrastructure. This, allied to the abundant immigrant workforce (mostly Italians), led to the industrialization of the city. With over 246,000 people*, São Carlos, which has become known for pioneering innovation and an enterprising spirit, came to possess a well-developed urban infrastructure before many other Brazilian cities. Thus it has turned into one of the most representative economies of its region and also a Brazilian landmark in terms of technology and education.

International Cooperation

How to be admitted at USP.

USP International Cooperation Office is responsible for all aspects of the university's international affairs. Foreigner students will get the necessary support to solve their main doubts about academic life and also tips regarding the process of adaptation to our university and country. Besides the central International Cooperation Office, most schools have local international offices.

Further information:

http://www.usp.br/internationaloffice/

EXCHANGE STUDENTS

Programs offered to foreign undergraduate students

Admission as a regular student

1 Admission Test ("Vestibular")

The admission test - "Vestibular" - is organized every year by Fundação Universitária para o Vestibular (FUVEST). It is commonly applied between November and January.

Further information can be found at: <http://www.fuvest.br/>

2 Transfer

Transfer from other higher education institutions (both Brazilian or foreign) is only possible when vacancies are available after regular enrollment and internal transfer processes (from one USP School to another). This admission process happens via pre-selection and specific examinations, both applied by FUVEST.

Further information can be found at: <https://app.fuvest.br/concurso?hash_identificacao=8d20c5bb>

3 Program for Partner Undergraduate Students (PEC-G)

This is a cooperation program between Brazil and countries which Brazil maintains educational and cultural agreements with (especially from Africa, Latin America and the Caribbean). The goal is to offer young students from these countries the opportunity to undertake their full undergraduate studies at USP. To be eligible for the program, it is necessary to fulfill the following requirements:

- Be a citizen of the developing countries which Brazil maintains an Educational and Cultural Cooperation Agreement with;
- Possess a High School diploma or equivalent;
- Be a Foreign Citizen aged between 18 and 25 years old;
- Possess a Certificate of Proficiency in Portuguese Language (CELPE-Bras), in the case of students from non-CPLP countries (Portuguese Speaking Countries Community).

The pre-selection is carried out by the Brazilian Embassy in the candidate's home country. The students' evaluation is based on their High School résumé or equivalent and on their financial conditions.

For more information, please visit: <http://bit.ly/9AXPaR>

Should a student be selected to take part in the program, he/she must submit the following documents for registration at the International Office and for enrollment two weeks before classes begin:

- Covering letter (MRE - Ministry of Foreign Affairs);
- Declaration of commitment;
- Term of Financial Responsibility;
- School Transcript/ High School Diploma and Birth Certificate (all documents must be duly sealed and recognized by the Brazilian Embassy);
- Request for Consular Visa;
- Passport

ADMISSION AS AN EXCHANGE STUDENT

Exchange students are allowed to attend courses at USP for one or two semesters, which can be further extended up to two more semesters if authorized by both the foreign institution and USP. Students can obtain credits or conduct research valid to their home institution. The Home University must register the students here: <http://bit.ly/13mxMii>

Once the application has been submitted by the home university, the student receives an e-mail containing a link to complete his/her application.

Documents to be attached on the online application:

- A reference letter, written by a professor from the home institution;

- A copy of the student's transcript issued by the home institution accompanied by a simple translation into Portuguese;

- A Study Plan, including a list of disciplines the candidate intends to take at USP (you can find the list of disciplines at <http://bit.ly/16YnWLK>. Select the School, the course and then the disciplines);

- Copy of the pages of the applicant's passport which include personal data (including the expiration date);

- Digital photography for the document, in ".jpg" format and maximum size of 50Kb

Any questions concerning Exchange Students' mobility must be sent to mobility.area1@usp.br, mobility.area2@usp.br, mobility.area3@usp.br or mobility.area4@usp.br

The geographic areas covered by each email can be found here <http://bit.ly/1NXRNbh>

Important!

The DEADLINES for submissions are:
For the first semester (February to June): until OCTOBER 15TH.
For the second semester (August to December): until MAY 5TH.

Selected students must subsequently present the following documents for registration at the International Office and for enrollment:

- Passport with a Temporary Student Visa (Type IV);

- A copy of the International Health Insurance/ Travel Insurance.

" I am very grateful to the International Office staff. They´ve always listened to my questions and they've always answered them respectfully.

PROGRAMS OFFERED TO FOREIGN GRADUATE STUDENTS

Admission as a regular student

1 A foreign student interested in undertaking graduate studies at USP must get in touch directly with the Graduate Section of the School where they wish to study.

For information on existing Graduate Programs, please go to:
<http://www.prpg.usp.br/index.php/en/>

2 Program for Partner Graduate Students (PEC-PG)

PEC-PG is a cooperation program with countries from Africa, Asia, Oceania, Latin America, the Middle East and the Caribbean. Foreign students interested in applying to a graduate program via PEC-PG must get in touch directly with the School where they wish to study, in order to be informed of the necessary documents and procedures for that specific School.

Applicants must send the following basic documents:

- A copy of the student's transcript, diploma and Birth Certificate, all duly recognized by the Brazilian Embassy

- Certificate of Proficiency in Portuguese Language for Foreigners (CELPE-Bras)

- A copy of the curriculum in Portuguese

- Two reference letters and a Research Project or Study Plan (according to the models found in the PEG-PG Manual)

- Acceptance letter issued by USP on one of its Graduate Degree Programs (Masters or PhD)

For more information, please go to: <http://www.dce.mre.gov.br/>.

ADMISSION AS AN EXCHANGE STUDENT

Foreign students interested in doing part of their graduate studies at USP under the exchange program must get in touch directly with the Graduate Section of the School where they wish to study.

For information on existing Graduate Programs, please go to the website:
<http://www.prpg.usp.br/?page_id=19>

SELECTION PROCESS

The International Office only conducts a prior analysis of the received documents in order to accept (or not) the candidate's application. Further analysis of the information provided by the applicant and his/her possible acceptance are undertaken by the School where he/she intends to study and will take up to approximately 60 days after the subscription deadline.

> Important!
> It is not possible for a foreign student to enroll at USP holding a tourist visa, nor is it possible to change the type of visa once already in Brazil or a neighboring country. Under such circumstances, should the need arise to change the type of visa, it will be necessary for the student to return to his/her home country.

HEALTH INSURANCE

During his/her stay in Brazil, the foreigner will be allowed to use the services of the Brazilian Public Health System only in case of emergency. For this reason, Universidade de São Paulo demands that students obtain health insurance (travel insurance), which should be purchased in their home country prior to their arrival in Brazil. The insurance policy must be valid for the entire period of intended stay in the country. The choice of one specific travel insurance or another is the student's responsibility.

After arrival

Once in Brazil, the foreign student must present himself/herself to the USP International Office in order to be introduced to the university and receive instructions regarding the necessary procedures.

The International Office staff will provide information about:

* USP ID card;
* Portuguese course enrollment;
* Signing up for classes;
* Student Single Transportation Card ("Bilhete Único Estudantil") , through the USP Superintendence for Social Assistance (SAS);
* Homestay Program

Libraries

USP has 48 libraries located throughout its schools, museums and research institutes of all campi.

Integrated Library System

Online catalogue: http://www.usp.br/sibi/

Portuguese Classes for Foreigners

All the university's activities are held in Portuguese. The Language Center of the Faculty of Philosophy, Languages and Literature, and Human Sciences (FFLCH) offers a Portuguese language course for USP's exchange students.
